Accreditation

Health care-specific accreditation has become the industry standard and our office can assist your organization with becoming accredited or complying with accreditation standards.

Radiation Protection

In one visit, our radiation protection surveys meet regulatory requirements for both medical and dental x-ray systems in the State of Alaska. More importantly, our surveys evaluate patient radiation dose exposures, which is an expectation of most accrediting agencies.

Industrial Hygiene

Our Certified Industrial Hygienists offer professional services devoted to the science and art of anticipating, recognizing, evaluating, controlling, and preventing hazards. Commonly in healthcare, radiological, chemical and biological exposures are in question and require professional evaluation.

Safety & Infection Control

We are committed to protecting the health and safety of those in the workplace and as part of that commitment we offer the following:

- Assessment of the physical environment, including Life Safety Code and OSHA compliance.
- Program review and support for Environment of Care, Emergency Management, Life Safety, and Infection Control.
- Respiratory protection training and education.
