

Meet your Institutional Environmental Health Consultants

Michael Box, REHS, CIH, MS

Michael is a Certified Industrial Hygienist (CIH) and a Registered Environmental Health Specialist (REHS). He began his career with two internships with the Indian Health Service in Redding, California and Shiprock, New Mexico and one with the National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health (NIOSH).

Michael worked for 10 years with the Coast Guard in Alameda, California and Honolulu, Hawaii before joining us in Hawaii's sister state - Alaska.

Michael can be reached by email at mgbox@anthc.org.

Katherine Hubbard, REHS, MPH

Katherine (Katie) is a Registered Environmental Health Specialist (REHS). She began her career in the field environmental health program at the Alaska Native Tribal Health Consortium in 2003. Katie has also worked with the Indian Health Service (IHS) in Santa Fe, New Mexico and completed the IHS Institutional Environmental Health Residency in Bethesda, Maryland. She returned to the Alaska Native Tribal Health Consortium in 2014 as an Institutional Environmental Health Consultant.

Katie can be reached by email at knhubbard@anthc.org.